

In an instruction text would the first person be appropriate and why?