

In 'Pride and Prejudice' who says, 'it is better to know as little as possible of the defects of the person with whom you are to pass your life'?