

In the short story 'Something Old, Something New' exploring faith is described, 'like holding a cube in his hand, turning it round and round...'. What is this an example of?